PEACE OUTLET IS INDICATED BY PREMIER

New Interest by Dominion and Canadian Pacific Officials Shown in Area

NO DELAY SHOWN ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Small Expenditure on Caravan Reaped Rich Harvest in Worth-While Publicity

SUGGESTING by his guarded references to the Peace River district and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway that major developments were likely to take place in opening up the big grain-growing district of Northeastern British Columbia, Premier S. P. Tomin, roused his audience to enthusiasm when he addressed the annual meeting of the Spanish Conservative Association last night. The Premier also dealt with other important matters.

In respect of the Peace River country he said that the senior officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway were enthusiastic over the possibilities of the area, and that the company had several surveying parties in the field examining possible routes to the coast. Further, Premier R. B. Bennett was interested in the development of the West. "I feel reasonably assured," he added, "that with the coming of the new year, Mr. Bennett will turn his attention very seriously indeed to the Peace River country."

Hon. Dr. Tomin further stressed the importance of the new route located for the Pacific Great Eastern crossing over the Cottonwood Canyon. He had recently returned from a trip over the line.

The track, said Dr. Tomin, had been vastly improved, and the shops at Squamish were kept as cleanly and efficiently as a naval dockyard. Among other improvements a satisfactory crossing of the Cottonwood Canyon had been found which would make it possible to avoid the crumbling abutment which had offered one of the chief obstructions to the building of the railway.

Speaking of the present universal depression, Dr. Tomin stated that he was convinced that Canada would be the first country to recover. The chief cause of the depression in this country was the low price of wheat, caused to a great extent by the people of the Prairies failing to appreciate the need for trading with Great Britain, and, particularly in British Columbia, by the fall in the price of minerals. Although British Columbia had the largest crop of fish which she had ever caught, she was being steadily undersold in this respect by Russia.

Dr. Tomin dealt in detail with the question of unemployment relief.

BRITAIN NEGLECTED CHANCES IN CANADA DECLARES BENNETT

Prime Minister Points to Fact There Are Ten Times More American Branch Factories in Dominion Than British—Pleads for Co-operation in Developing Inter-Empire Commerce

Australian Trade Is Not Developed

(Canadian Press Cable)
LONDON, Oct. 14.—"I don't think you have taken full advantage of the preferences we have given these islands," said Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, tonight at a dinner of Imperial delegates and business men of the United Kingdom.

"There are seven hundred branches of American industry in Canada and only seventy British," Mr. Bennett told the business men. "When I see opportunities you have lost in Canada I wish I had the power to arouse you to the possibilities of conducting a productive and profitable trade with us."

MUTUAL HELP

"Come over and help us. We will help you find trade for your ships, business for your bankers and homes for your people."

The Prime Minister of Canada remarked that last century marked the age of expansion of the Empire and this century was its period of development.

He spoke at a dinner given in honor of the Imperial Conference delegates by three great business bodies: the British Chamber of Commerce, the Federation of Industries and the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom.

WARNS UNIONS

The British nations will have to reduce their national expenditures; salaries and wages will have to come down, and there must be longer working hours if an economic catastrophe is to be averted, Lord Incheape, the great merchant and shipping peer, told the gathering.

"I am convinced," stated Lord Incheape, "that the trade recovery of Great Britain and Australia, at least, rests in a great measure, with the leaders of the trades unions."

Of the Imperial Conference, Lord Incheape, who has three times been president of the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom, has served on almost innumerable public inquiries and commissions, and is one of the wealthiest Britons, said: "These deliberations in the field of Empire economics will, I hope, have a sufficiently beneficial effect on the chief obstructions to the building of the railway."

NEW ZEALAND GOVERNMENT IS DEFEATED

House Action May Not Be Regarded as Vote of Lack of Confidence

PREMIER ATTENDING LONDON CONFERENCE

(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters)
WELLINGTON, N.Z., Oct. 14.—The Government of Prime Minister G. W. Forbes, who was attending the Imperial Conference in London, was defeated in the House of Representatives today during discussion of the settlement clause of the Land Laws Amendment Bill. The vote was thirty-one to twenty-one.

When Hon. G. W. Forbes took over the premiership from the aged Sir Joseph Ward (who since died last summer), the party in power was in a minority in the House. It is certain Independents were considered to be outside the fold.

There were indications, however, that the Opposition was not averse to seeing the Government continue, for a time, in office.

Before he left for London, Mr. Forbes sought a promise from leaders of the Opposition that the life of his administration would not be endangered during his absence. The Opposition gave certain limited assurances and it is possible that the Government defeat will not be regarded as upon a major issue and will not have the usual serious consequences.

QUOTA BUYING IS SUGGESTED TO DELEGATES

Experts at Imperial Conference Will Examine Proposals Made

WOULD PROPORTION WHEAT PURCHASES

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The experts connected with the Imperial Conference delegates have been empowered to report on the feasibility of the quota system for British purchases of wheat. First favored by the British Conservatives, the quota method was today submitted to the Labor Government to the conference, not as an official proposal, but as a possible method of affording preference to the products of the Dominion grain growers.

The main idea of the scheme is that British wheat purchases would be made on the basis of quota percentages—so much to be obtained from the home grower, so much from the Dominions and a certain amount from foreign sources. The plan received preliminary consideration this afternoon at the meeting of the special conference committee over which Sir John Graham, president of the Board of Trade, presided. Hon. H. H. Stevens, Canada's Minister of Trade and Commerce, being the Dominion's representative.

REFERRED TO EXPERTS

This afternoon's discussion did not turn so much on the merits of the quota method as on whether it appeared sufficiently business-like to warrant examination by experts. The committee decided in the affirmative and the experts are now at work. The committee and the experts will have, at least, one precedent to guide their study. France having a quota system of wheat importing, which fixes the percentage of home-grown wheat which must be used in the manufacture of French bread.

At present about 15 per cent of the wheat consumed in Britain is home grown; 45 per cent comes from the Dominions, and about 40 per cent comes from foreign sources, mainly Argentina. It is hard to determine the amount of Canadian wheat consumed in Britain as the British and Canadian returns vary widely. Much Canadian wheat is shipped via the United States to Britain, never reaches the Old Country market, and many direct shipments are diverted to sea. British and Canadian statisticians are now endeavoring to clear up the differences in the official returns.

WOMAN KILLED IN STREET CAR CRASH

Eight Are Injured When Cars Collide in Dense Fog at Windsor

WINDSOR, Oct. 14.—Carrying their burden of early morning passengers, bound for their day's employment, two street cars collided head on in a dense fog here today, with a resultant toll of one dead and eight injured. The cars came together at a switching point at the bottom of a steep incline near Lansbury Bridge. Owing to the poor visibility the motorman failed to see each other's trolley until too late and they had no chance to apply the brakes.

The force of the collision sent the passengers sprawling in all directions, while a number of those more seriously injured were pinned under buckled seats or other wreckage.

Mrs. Vera Zimmerman, twenty-five, was the only passenger who was today at a meeting of the Provincial Cabinet.

IS ELECTED LORD MAYOR

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Oct. 14.—Senator Alfred Byrne, of the Constitutional Party, today was elected Lord Mayor and senior city alderman. He defeated Councillor D. Kelly, nominee of the De Valera party.

Fine Hostelry Falls Prey to Flames

ATTRACTED by a ruddy glow in the sky, thousands from Victoria and district watched the spectacular blaze that destroyed the Beach Hotel, Oak Bay, yesterday afternoon. The fire was discovered at 3:30 o'clock, and as darkness settled the visibility of the flames increased to a powerful beacon, attracting motorists from all parts. This photograph was taken shortly after the roof fell in. At a late hour last night a squad of firemen was still pouring water on the tangled remains of a fine hostelry.

Navy Pact Rushed From Victoria to East by Airplane

Japanese Ratification to London Naval Treaty Reaches Here in Mail After Speedy Voyage Across Pacific—Two Fast Planes of U.S. Army Leave at Daybreak for N.Y.

Must Be Aboard Ship on Saturday

CLIPPING twelve hours off her scheduled time across the Pacific in a mad race to reaffirm the desire of the Japanese Government for world peace, the big steamer Hiwaka Maru, of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha Line, reached port at 7 o'clock last night, and delivered to representatives of the Imperial Japanese Government and the Government of United States a satelwood box containing His Majesty Emperor Hirohito's signature in ratification of the London Naval Treaty.

At dawn this morning two big army pursuit planes of the United States Government will leave Lansdowne Field in a mad race through the air to reach New York with the previous document before the St. Levathan leaves that port for Europe on Saturday.

Lieutenant Irvin Woodring and Lieutenant William M. Caldwell will carry the treaty across the continent. Their planes are capable of making 200 miles an hour, and they will go as fast and as far as they can while daylight lasts. They will fly direct from Victoria for New York.

When the big Japanese liner reached port last night United States Consul-General Ely E. Palmer, of Vancouver, and Japanese Consul-General S. Yedo, Vancouver, were waiting with Master G. H. Gardiner to take delivery of the package. The old-time courier with his dispatch case has evidently gone the way of most romantic figures, for the document that engaged the Japanese Diet in angry discussion for months came in an ordinary parcel, and was delivered to Postmaster Gardiner.

HANDED TO OFFICIAL

In the presence of the consuls, Captain S. Akiyoshi, commander of the Hiwaka Maru, press representatives and others, the satelwood box, fourteen inches by twenty and two inches deep, and bespangled with seals and postage stamps, was taken from the bag it was handed over to Consul-General Palmer, upon his receipt being given for it.

Delivery of the package is being made to the army officials at Lansdowne Field at dawn by the consular general, and again they will receipt for it before taking off into the cold grey of the morning sky. The important document is addressed to the Embassy of Japan, 37 Portman Square, London.

Captain Akiyoshi stated that he was unaware when he sailed that the treaty was on board. It was not until he had left that he was advised of the fact, and the necessity for speed. After that the big ship traveled at top speed across the Pacific. He laughingly said that the newspapers were better informed of the fact, and the necessity for speed, than he was, for before leaving Japan they had warned on board the ship to quiet him about the important document that was in his charge.

DISSOLUTION OF REICHSTAG PARTY'S AIM

Fascists Are Determined to Force New Elections in German Republic

NOISY MINORITIES DOMINATE DEBATES

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—The noisy minorities of Fascist and Communist delegates dominated the debates in today's opening session of the Prussian Diet, a body whose right of existence in its present line-up has been challenged by the followers of Adolf Hitler since the national election on September 14.

The National Socialists and the Communists aired their opposing views today with vehemence. They engaged in verbal passages in which they were joined by their supporters in the public galleries who shouted encouragement or defiance.

The Speaker of the House finally was compelled to order the election of scores of voluble galleries, and when the House adjourned for the day no business had been done.

Although the Diet Chamber faces the Leipzig trial, scene of yesterday's Fascist demonstration against Jewish merchants, there were no disorders about the building, which was heavily guarded by police.

The Fascists, made confident by election of 107 of their number to the Reichstag, are determined upon a move for dissolution to force new elections, but the Centrists are equally minded against it.

THIRTEEN SAVED BY BABY'S WAIL

Residents of Minto, Manitoba, Slumber as Fire Sweeps Business Area

$100,000 DAMAGE DONE

BRANDON, Oct. 14.—The wail of a babe, frightened by rolling smoke clouds, saved thirteen persons from threatening death today as flames razed the business section of the village of Minto, in Southern Manitoba. Damage estimated at close to $100,000 was caused by the fire, of unestablished origin. Half a dozen business establishments were wrecked.

Two hours before dawn the whole village, some 200 residents, was slumbering when the fire broke out in the general store of J. B. Paradis, which serves also as residence for the family. The youngest of eleven Paradis children screamed at smoke seeping beneath a door, and his parents awakened. Over a rickety wooden stairway the thirteen persons made their way to safety.

No serious injuries were reported, though a number of fire fighters suffered minor hurts.

The damage was assessed roughly as follows: John D. Bro's hardware, $30,000; P. Cristall's general store, $20,000; J. B. Paradis, general store, $20,000; J. W. Sparks, butcher shop, $2,000; E. Russell's drug store, $8,000; P. S. Schreiner's grocery store, $6,000. Insurance is said to cover one-third the loss.

Conservatives of N. Vancouver Name Loutet Candidate

NORTH VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—J. A. Loutet was nominated to carry the standard of North Vancouver Conservatives into the political arena of British Columbia, at a meeting of delegates held at the Vancouver Hotel this evening. Mr. Loutet will contest the seat made vacant by the resignation of Hon. Ian Mackenzie.

THREE FIREMEN ARE HURT WHEN FLAMES RAZE BEACH HOTEL

Fire Starting in Boiler-Room of Popular Oak Bay, Hostelry Consumes Main Building Despite Efforts of Firemen—Blaze Spread Rapidly in Spite of Stiff Opposition—Little Furniture Saved

Loss Is Estimated at $130,000; To Commence Rebuilding at Once

THREE firemen were injured and damage estimated at between $120,000 and $130,000 was done yesterday when fire, which started at 3:30 o'clock, practically demolished the Beach Hotel, Oak Bay, one of the most exclusive hostelries on Vancouver Island. The outbreak started in the boiler room of the hotel, from an unknown cause. The loss, which includes the cost of the structure and effects, is, it is understood, covered by insurance. Capt. W. Merston, managing director of the hotel, stated last night that rebuilding will start immediately.

Sixteenth Century Coin Is Salvaged From Golf Course

WHILE preparing the ground on the new Fairway Driving Course, at the corner of Douglas Street and Fairbairn Road, Ben M. Swindell discovered a "Liverpool halfpenny," dated, in so far as it is possible to make out the figures, 1591. The coin bears the impression of an old high-poled sailing ship of the sixteenth century. Among other articles dug out of the ground at the same spot, which had evidently at one time been used as a dump for garbage, was an old metal key tag, roughly hand-stamped with the inscription, "Room 18, Colonial," which recalls the days when the Colonial Hotel was one of the leading hostelries of Victoria.

FIFTEEN ARE ARRESTED IN BOSTON CLASH

Heads Cracked and Uniforms Torn When Communists and Police Battle

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—Fifteen persons, five of them women, were arrested today during a pitched battle between police and a group of fifty Communists who attempted to invade the National Convention of the American Federation of Labor.

For full twenty minutes the Communists and police hemmed in a crowd of more than one thousand spectators, fought outside the Hotel Bradford, where the Federation was in session.

Heads were cracked and police uniforms were torn, while patrol wagons rushed to the scene from a nearby precinct station. Taxi cabs were pressed into service as patrol wagons were filled. Communists struggled to rescue the prisoners.

PARADE TO HOTEL

Shortly before noon the Communists paraded to the hotel carrying the Communist placards and were promptly ordered away by the police. An attempt then was made to hold a meeting in the street, but the first speaker who attempted to address the gathering was placed under arrest.

An angry Communist tried to rescue him, and the battle began. Traffic was paralyzed, while the screams of women Communists increased the bedlam.

Mounted police and squads of reserves finally dispersed the mob, but not before Police Captain Jeremiah Gallivan had been beaten by the rioters.

Meanwhile, the Labor Convention was in session, and the Federation issued a statement expressing regret at the occurrence and stating its disapproval of the policy of Communists in the United States to "deliberately incite violence, street uprisings and arouse feeling and passion."

Rebel and Federal Forces Suffer Casualties During Warfare in Brazil Revolt

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 14.—A series of engagements along a straggly 200-mile front at the southern border of Sao Paulo State have apparently drawn Brazil's Federal and insurgent armies into line for the battle reported imminent since last week.

Hard fighting at several points was announced by both sides, each claiming the victory.

The Federals said the rebels had been defeated at Senge Brixhead and had left fifteen dead on the field. Federal casualties were given as six wounded.

ROUT THE FEDERALS

The rebels asserted they had routed the Federals after a five-hour battle between Alfonso Camargo and Caripollis, the hardest fought thus far of the civil war. Federal prisoners and war material were captured.

The rebels also claimed victories at Quilques and at Gailings, where thirty-five prisoners were taken. Indications are that the struggle between the opposing forces will be decided in Sao Paulo and Parana where the best equipped troops of both sides are concentrated.

RECOVERING REBEL STATE
In the Minas Geraes campaign the Federals reported their troops were slowly recovering the rebel state, but had refrained from unnecessary fighting and were content to let the rebels retreat into remote districts.

Both announced gains in outlying states, the rebels in Bahia Groy and the Federals in Para. Federal and rebel commanders are bringing up troops as fast as they can to the Sao Paulo war zone. As Sao Paulo is nearer to it than the rebel headquarters, the Federals have the advantage in transportation.

BISHOP SAYS TARIFF WILL BE BENEFICIAL

Rt. Rev. C. de V. Schofield
Addresses Luncheon Meeting of Kiwanis Club

PROTECTION A MOVE TOWARDS FREE TRADE

"If they introduce a tariff in England, this will be the first step towards free trade for the rest of the world," said Rt. Rev. C. de V. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, in addressing members of the Kiwanis Club in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"My own conviction," continued His Lordship, "is that the next election in England is not far distant, and will be fought out on the tariff issue."

"Mr. Bennett has brought to bear just that element which was necessary for Empire unity," he added. The speaker briefly sketched his recent tour of France, Italy and Switzerland, commenting upon a fine site which has been chosen for a permanent League of Nations building, on the outskirts of Geneva.

He had spent between five and six weeks in England when he had attended the Lambeth Conference.

ECONOMIC DEPRESSION
Referring to the state of affairs in the Old Country, His Lordship said that there was no denying the serious economic depression which existed at the present time. He had traveled to Lancashire, in the heart of the industrial district, and had noticed a bare 10 per cent of the forest of chimneys which were smoking.

"I never talked to a business man," he said, "who held out any hope for the future; and yet they are determined to pull through, and appear satisfied that England has not yet finished her contribution to the world."

LAMBETH CONFERENCE

The Lambeth Conference, said the speaker, had first been held in the year 1867, when seventy-six bishops were present. This year no fewer than 308 prelates attended, who represented all races and colors. The conference had debated a number of important questions, and there had been no attempt to suppress the human element. One of the chief difficulties which had faced the Archbishop of Canterbury was that he had to act as chairman at a "meeting of chairmen."

A visit had been paid to the King and Queen, and the speaker told the meeting that His Majesty is looking the picture of health, a statement which was received with enthusiasm.

CLAIMS PROHIBITION BLOW AT TEMPERANCE

Cardinal Patrick Hayes Describes Dry Law in United States as "Unwise Legislation"

SEATTLE, Oct. 14.—Cardinal Patrick Hayes, of New York, an almost unannounced visitor here last night, said he considered prohibition "unwise legislation" and a blow at the temperance movement.

Cardinal Hayes, one of the four cardinals in the United States, arrived by boat from Victoria and is en route to California. He made known his views in comment upon an address here Sunday by Bishop George Finnegan, Montana, who told a Catholic gathering drunkenness had increased under the eighteenth amendment.

"I asserted some years ago that prohibition was very unwise legislation, since all people did not accept it, that prohibition is not in itself a virtue, but that temperance is."

"I saw very clearly a trend toward temperance, just before prohibition came in. I noticed people were not drinking so much at dinners and private affairs."

He said the growing divorce rate presented a similar example of lack of self-control. "The sense of sacrifice seems to have disappeared," he said.

PROTECTING CONSUMER

The provisions of the Bennett tariff are in full effect—and the cost of living has not gone up. If anything, the cost of living has gone down. True, certain interests thought that the duties had gone up, the articles they had to sell should be boosted up, too. Dealers in glass sought to take advantage of what they considered their opportunity, and increased the prices of their wares. The manufacturers of glass thought they were independent of both the manufacturers and the government, and could improve an excellent opportunity. Either that or they thought they had an ordinary government to deal with. The government ordered the duty off glass, and the price of the article is where it was before.

Textile manufacturers gave a similar undertaking to the government. One of the manufacturers of the commodity appeared to believe he was not bound by the obligation imposed upon his neighbors and competitors, and raised his prices. It was not necessary to take drastic action in his case, as the government and the public were before. We suppose human nature, like the leopard, cannot change its spots. There always will be individuals whose character is spotted and who dream they can offend without being spotted. But the government which has provided protection for industries has also declared that it will provide protection for the public against the greed of individuals. The government is doing that, and it will continue to do it.

STILL THEY WONDER AT CRIME

If in doubt about anything, appoint a commission to consider it and make recommendations. Many commissions have been appointed in Canada, the commissions have sometimes made recommendations, but seldom indeed have the recommendations been adopted. If the subjects the commissions were appointed to consider happened to be of a delicate nature, the recommendations were thrust into a convenient pigeon-hole, and that was the end of them.

Like all other democratic countries, the United States has experimented with commissions. There is a commission at work in the United States at the present time. It is a very important commission, and was appointed by President Hoover to take evidence and report upon law enforcement, with special reference to law enforcement under the Prohibition Act. Mr. George W. Wickensham is the chairman of the Law Enforcement Commission. And he has reported that lawbreakers of the more desperate and vicious class when caught were sentenced to be whipped as well as to be imprisoned. But before a criminal can be lashed and imprisoned he must first be caught—and there's the rub.

We suppose many lawbreakers of the milder sort must be caught in the United States or the jails and penitentiaries would not be full and flowing over—but the most desperate criminals are never, or hardly ever, caught. They either escape from the meshes of the law or they are killed, occasionally by a policeman, generally by criminals quite as desperate as they are.

In some parts of the United States there is a perpetual feud or vendetta between the police and the criminals; there is a civil war just as truly as there is a civil war in China or in Brazil. When a policeman encounters a criminal engaged in his established business he shoots to kill, and the criminal shoots at the policeman to kill. Thus shooting to kill has repeated the provision of the law which calls for the capture of the criminal. The other way a policeman in one of the cities just across the water shot and killed a lad of seventeen who was detected in the act of breaking into a store, who could hardly be considered as one of the desperate criminal class. Thus shooting to kill has become a habit, and it has affected both the civilian and the policeman.

If the President of the United States were to suggest a truce, proclaim an armistice and order the chairman of his commission to disarm all the forces of rule and law in course of time the internal state of war might be brought to an end and justice be administered in the ordinary way.

AN OPTIMISTIC NOTE

Sir George Foster, brilliant in mind and eloquent of tongue when in his prime, whose faculties do not seem to be affected by the burden of years, expresses a hope that something may come of the Imperial Economic Conference. The hopeful feature of the present conference, Sir George says, is that it differs from all past conferences in one important respect. Past Conferences did nothing but engage in fruitless debates upon abstract subjects and pass fruitless resolutions on abstract subjects. The present Conference has something of a concrete nature before it. The Premier of Canada laid something of a definite nature before it. The British representatives at the Conference were stunned when they heard the proposals of Mr. Bennett. Mr. Thomas, who represents the Dominions in the Cabinet of Mr. MacDonald, was the first to recover from the shock and to venture a few comments on the Canadian programme. Mr. Thomas did not say very much. He might have said more if the grim figure of the saturnine and inflexible Chancellor of the Exchequer had not been sitting close by and glowering at him, with another die-hard free trader, Mr. Graham, President of the Board of Trade, also glowering at him. So the Minister for the Dominions said what he was ordered to say, and no more.

But while there is no immediate prospect of the Canadian proposals being accepted, there are indications that public opinion is beginning to exercise some influence upon the Government and that the Government is bringing pressure to bear upon the grim and inflexible Iron Chancellor. Shortly after the Labor Government assumed office Mr. Snowden announced in Parliament that all preferences and safeguarding measures would be swept away. The safe-guarding measures have not been swept away, and the preferences are to remain, provisionally. They are to endure as long as the trade agreements under which they exist endure. The Manchester Chamber of Commerce has expressed the opinion that there may be some virtue in Imperial preferences and that some-thing may be made out of them. Manchester is the place where The Guardian is published, and the last trench of the declaimed free trade forces. Manchester says it will support preferences if they can be demonstrated to be advantageous to the Mother Country and the Overseas Dominions.

London is the shipping and business centre of Great Britain. Liverpool is still an active shipping centre, but Manchester is the chief manufacturing centre. Manchester has been harder hit by the depression than any other city in the kingdom. The products of the Manchester manufacturers have been excluded from nearly all the foreign markets in which they were at one time supreme. The products of foreign manufacturers have free access to the British markets. That is one of the direct results of Great Britain adhering stubbornly to the principle of free trade while all her competitors have adopted the principle of protection. Manchester has discovered by experience that there are two sides to the principle of protection; that if the doors in foreign countries are closed to her goods, open doors in the Dominions might be of advantage to her business. And that, we assume, is why Manchester is beginning to reconsider her position. We, therefore, join with Sir George Foster in venturing to express a hope that, even with a Labor Government in power in Great Britain, something may come out of the Imperial Economic Conference.

IN THE GLAD DAYS TO COME

It is always interesting to read what modern philosophers have to say. Mr. Ford says that within a certain period of time no workman will be laboring (probably without special haste), for less than $27 a day. So there is a rainbow in the heavens, with a pot of gold at one of the horns of it. But the doubter may say that as all men are born free and equal, in the dear and delightful days to come every workman will be receiving (and, of course, earning) $27 a day. In such a case, will the average workman be better off when he is receiving $27 a day than he is at the present day when the average rate of pay is only a fraction of that impressive sum? If the rate of pay is high, the cost of production will be correspondingly high, the cost of living will go up with the cost of production and the $27 a day man will be no better off, and probably no happier than the $4 a day man. We believe the average rate of pay in the Ford factories is $7 a day, but no Ford workman in the United States is permitted to taste, touch or handle liquor, and that provision under Prohibition should be worth at least an additional couple of dollars a day, to say nothing about the effect it has upon the conservation of health. We fear the remark of another and no less distinguished philosopher is still true, "Man never is but always to be blessed."

THE PAISLEY SHAWL

The large prices realized among collectors for genuine specimens of the Paisley shawl, recall the rise and fall of this very short-lived but dainty fashion of our grandmothers' days. The manufacture of these shawls was begun, reached its zenith, and died out altogether in the course of half a century. It owed its origin to the laudable ambition of some of our Scotch weavers to imitate the intricate patterns and lovely needlework of the fine cashmere shawls, which had been finding their way into this country, through soldiers returning from the various campaigns of the East.

The Paisley weavers were notable craftsmen and, after a vast amount of patience, tests and failures, their skill and delicacy of touch at last produced a shawl with a pattern which fully equaled the model they had set out to copy, and their work is regarded still as one of the finest examples of weaving ever produced in this country. They soon became part of the "best dress" of the Levantine ladies of Scotland, and they held their own until Dame Fashion decreed suddenly that they were out of date.

Despite even the influence of Queen Victoria, who bought no less than seventeen shawls at one time (and used one at the christening of the Prince, who became King Edward) in order to aid the ebbing craft, it died quickly, and no real Paisley shawl has been made for ordinary commercial purposes since about 1880. In the early days, even a good shawl was worth as much as £20, and the few that now remain, are either sold at a stiff price or treasured as family heirlooms by those fortunate enough to possess them.—D. J. McArthur in The Edinburgh Scotsman.

Royal Engineers' History Recalled by Visit Here Of Officer's Daughter

Miss Luard Returns to England After Retracing R.E. Associations

A trestle table, a trestle fork, a copper kettle and an old sapper's iron house of the kind brought from England in the late '30's, are among the few known existing souvenirs of the young lady's stay in British Columbia of the Royal Engineers' detachment sent here in 1858 to help forward some of the important undertakings of the young colony.

Miss E. M. Luard, only daughter of the late Capt. Henry Luard, R.E., one of the officers of this little band of Royal Engineers, left a few days ago for England after several weeks' visit in British Columbia, happy in the possession of the trestle table and the trestle fork, the only two relics which she could obtain of her father's pioneer experiences in this part of the Empire.

All her life Miss Luard has heard from her mother about British Columbia. Until this Summer she knew little of the history of the colony. She found her time fully occupied while in the Province retracing the routes followed by her father and his fellow officers and men. She found her father's pioneer experiences in this part of the Empire. She discovered the sapper's iron house, which was the headquarters of the detachment. She found her father's pioneer experiences in this part of the Empire.

Parents Married Here. One of the most interesting of the old associations which she sought was the Church of St. James, where her father and mother were married on October 9, 1863. In her notebook was pasted a clipping from The Colonist of October 10 of the same year, recording this interesting event as follows:

"Wedding—Yesterday at Christ Church, Capt. Henry R. Luard, of the Royal Engineers, led to the altar by Rev. Mr. Leggat, Esq. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Reece, M.A., in the presence of many friends.

Capt. Luard and his young wife, whose mother had then married a second time Mr. Thomas Leet Wood, at one time Solicitor-General for British Columbia, left for England, where the Cariboo wagon road began its 400-mile length northward to the Cariboo mines, and over which thousands of men and millions of dollars of treasure passed; a picture of the memorial erected in 1928 at Suspension Bridge, Spuzzum, by the Association of Professional Engineers of the Province of British Columbia, New Westminster, 1863; of the old Parliament Buildings erected in 1860, the only remaining relic of which is now used for the Provincial mining exhibits here; of Fort Victoria, as it was in 1843; of the Parliament Buildings, old and new; of the Fraser River Canyon, showing the old trail of the Cariboo Road; of the Thompson River; of Mount Cheam on the Fraser; and

A LONG VOYAGE. The distance from England to British Columbia has dwindled to comparatively small dimensions in the intervening years owing to the quicker means of transportation. But Miss Luard might have come sooner had she been less influenced by the tradition handed on by the opening words in the Royal Engineers' journal of November 5, 1858, shortly after they set sail from the Old Land:

"We have started on a long voyage to a distant land with no prospect for several months of any fresh faces to be seen or any fresh beef to be eaten."

This journal, written daily throughout the six months' and published originally in manuscript form on board the Thames City, was edited by Second Corporal Charles Stinnet, R.E., assisted by Lieutenant H. S. Palmer, R.E., and was read aloud on the ship each Saturday night by Captain H. R. Luard. After the arrival of the detachment at the camp, New Westminster, it was decided to have the journal of the distribution amongst the members. The British Columbian, New Westminster, did the first printing, and the Government Printing Office, Parliament Buildings, made a reprint in 1907 for the benefit of descendants of the detachment living in British Columbia. The volume in which it is incorporated contains the names and pictures of all officers and men of the detachment.

PAY AND ALLOWANCES

In a day which is accustomed to quote the low pay received by such professions half a century or more ago, it is interesting to find from a note on pay and allowances for Royal Engineer officers and men in British Columbia in 1858 that the chief commissioner of land received £1,530; captains £552, subalterns £375, color sergeants from three to five shillings per day, and sappers (of whom there were 123) from one to four shillings.

Miss Luard is now on her way back to Europe, but as she is visiting Quebec and Paris before she returns to England, does not expect to be home before Christmas. While here she spent much time with relatives on her mother's side, Mrs. Trotter Johnston, and Mrs. Jackson, both formerly well-known residents, having been sisters of Mrs. Luard.

WANTS NEW PUBLIC MARKET

Sir—Now our city fathers have at last awakened to the fact that there is such a condition as unemployment, it behooves the citizens, as a whole, of Victoria and district, to work in conjunction as a co-operative body, for the purpose of getting action on the idle lands adjacent to Victoria. By so doing the citizens will be doing their share towards creating employment of a permanent nature. Thereby it will be made possible for their sons and daughters to remain on their native health, because, in the final analysis, irrespective of the financial assistance given by the Federal and Provincial Governments at this period towards getting action on unemployment, it will not be of a lasting nature. I know of no other way out of the predicament than for the citizens who are so widely concerned, to get action on said problems. Since the corporation has land under its jurisdiction on Pandora Avenue

How B.C. Joined Canada

Story of Confederation as Told by The Colonist, Which Championed the Cause of Union

By NINA NAPIER, M.A.

PART XVII

The British Colonist Opens Its Columns to Correspondence on Confederation

ALTHOUGH it firmly endorsed union, that January meeting might have been more successful still had the speakers been more representative of the influential men of the community. The ordinary speakers on matters of public interest, the magistrates, the landed proprietors, the merchants, were either silent or absent altogether.

Shortly after the meeting The British Colonist opened its columns to correspondents on both sides of the question, with the object of having it discussed fully and fairly. This gave an opportunity to that ardent Confederationist, Amor De Cosmos, to supplement his speech in a series of long letters, which dealt in great detail with the practicality of the union.

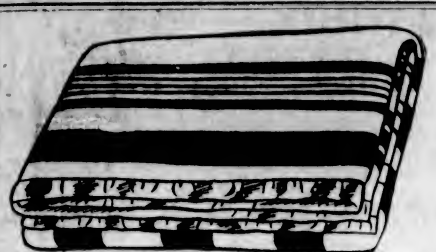

By placing before the public the principal conditions and advantages of Confederation, De Cosmos hoped to modify the opinions of those who doubted its advisability, and bring more adherents to the cause. When his opponents, writing both in The Colonist and in The Morning News, attacked him personally, he urged that this question be approached with freedom from petty rivalries and jealousies, with liberality and calmness of consideration. He handled his side of the debate in an able manner, and few were the arguments brought against the scheme that he could not refute.

Considering the terms and conditions under two heads, De Cosmos discussed first, those enumerated in the British North America Act, and secondly, those that would have to be negotiated. Under the first heading were included the exclusive powers of the Dominion and British Columbia Parliaments respectively. The powers of the Dominion would extend under such matters as the public debt, taxation, postal services, navigation, fisheries and currency. The powers of the local Legislature would include direct taxation, for provincial purposes, borrowing money on the sole credit of the province, the sale of lands and timber, the establishment of local institutions, and, generally, all matters of merely provincial interest.

Under the terms requiring special negotiations, which arose from the peculiar circumstances of the colony, and were not included in the Imperial Act, De Cosmos discussed the rights British Columbia should claim as contingent upon its union with Canada. First of all, the Dominion should become liable for the colony's debt, estimated at $1,500,000. It should pay annually, out of the consolidated revenues, a fixed subsidy for the support of the local Government. The British Colonist, some months previously, had estimated this modestly at $80,000, including the fixed grant at $110,000, and the per capita grant at $1.25. Taking the population as 20,000, this would amount altogether to $135,000.

Canada should grant to British Columbia representation in the Senate and House of Commons at Ottawa, and should insure representative institutions, together with responsible government for the colony, within six months of union. Lastly, and most important of all, the Dominion must agree to construct within two years a wagon-road from Lake Superior to the head of navigation on the Fraser River. British Columbia, on its side, would consent that the Dominion extend its authority to the province, as expressed in the Imperial Act.

Lecture on Astronomy in Round Table Club

LANTERN SLIDES SHOWN

Professor W. H. Gage was speaker at last night's dinner meeting of the Round Table Club, and illustrated in interesting discourse on astronomy by a number of excellent lantern slides.

The speaker first dealt with the position and relative sizes of the planets which circle our sun. Mercury being the nearest to the great orb, the others in order of distance being Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, and the transneptunian group.

A number of beautiful photographs of the moon were shown, the immense depths of some of the craters being indicated by the dark shadows in their centres.

The speaker dealt with the subject of comets, showing pictures of these, with funny, translucent tails extending in some cases for millions of miles.

Photographs of star clusters, where the sky was powdered with pinpoints of light, and of nebulae which represent stars in the making, were also shown. Professor Gage pointed out, as an instance of the immensity of space, that the distance between one of the stars of the "dipper" and another which seemed to the naked eye to be about twelve inches away was, in reality, 63,000 times 93,000,000 miles.

Stars, it was noted, were actually suns, having, in all probability, planet satellites of their own, and each constituting a separate universe.

Professor Elliott will be the speaker at next week's lecture and will give a preliminary talk on the history of religion, which will prepare the way for three lectures on this subject which are to follow.

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—The agreement between the Dominion Government and the Province of Saskatchewan, under which the Western province receives the sum of $1,000,000 for public works, etc., out of the $20,000,000 Federal unemployment appropriation, has now been approved. The Saskatchewan agreement provides also for the payment

The Quebec agreement has not yet been approved. The Dominion Government, it was stated this afternoon, is still awaiting word from the province. The proposal made to Quebec was that the Dominion Government should contribute $2,850,000 for public works and undertakings in that province.

France Plans Programme
Of Construction as Briand
Naval Holiday Nears CloseBuilding of 50,000 Tons to Be Undertaken Unless
New Pact is DrawnBy PAUL SCOTT MOWBRAY
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Following the complete breakdown of Franco-Italian naval negotiations, the French Government is believed to be now preparing its new construction programme.

The so-called naval holiday which Foreign Minister Aristide Briand made with Italy expires on December 1. On that date it is believed that a new 8-inch-gun cruiser, already authorized, will be laid down immediately. This will be the seventh of this type in the French Navy. The sixth was launched a few days ago.

PLANS CAPITAL SHIPS

The 1931 programme proper will be put into execution on April 1, France having recently shifted the date of its budgetary year from January to April. This programme will total, it is believed, slightly over 50,000 tons. Submarine construction, in which France has been leading the world, will, it is thought, be temporarily slackened, but capital ship construction will be resumed.

The Ministry of Marine seems to have approved and submitted to the Government Council, plans for a series of three new capital ships of about 22,000 tons, armed with 13-inch guns and capable of steaming from 28 to 30 knots an hour. These ships will be built within the French capital ship quota under the Washington Treaty. They will be the first capital ships that France has built since before the World War, and will embody such improvements in all respects as to make them perhaps the finest battleships afloat, not excepting the British ships Hood, Nelson and Rodney.

MEDITERRANEAN FLEET
These ships will, it is understood, be stationed in the Mediterranean, where they will form the nucleus of the French Fleet destined to protect communications between France and its vast North African Empire. Naturally, in the unforeseen event that Great Britain should desire to make a new security agreement with France covering the Mediterranean, or in case Italy should indicate willingness to resume negotiations with France on some basis other than a demand for parity, which France is determined not to concede, then France's new construction might radically be modified, but not otherwise, it is declared.

DESPERADO IS CAUGHT ON PASSENGER TRAIN

Jack Fleagle, Object of Nation-Wide Search, Wounded and Captured at Branson, Mo.

BRANSON, Mo., Oct. 14.—Jack Fleagle, object of a nation-wide search, after he led a band of ruthless killers in the robbery of the First National Bank of Lamar, Colo., in May, 1928, was wounded dangerously and captured here today.

The desperado was caught as the result of a trap laid for him in Ozark Mountain country by postal inspectors and authorities of California, Colorado, Missouri and Arkansas.

Fleagle was confronted on a Missouri Pacific passenger train which he boarded here to travel to Hollister, a nearby town.

REACHES FOR PISTOL
Five officers, all with drawn pistols, ordered Fleagle to put up his hands. Instead, he reached for his pistol.

One shot was fired and the bandit leader fell with a bullet in his abdomen. After a brief struggle his weapon was wrested from him. None of the officers would reveal who fired the shot.

The prisoner was taken to Springfield, Mo., late today to undergo an operation. If he recovers he will be returned to Colorado to face trial for murder.

ROBBERS KILLED FOUR
Four men were killed by the Lamar robbers, and three members of the gang already have paid with their lives on the gallows at the Colorado Penitentiary at Canon City.

Fleagle was tracked to the Ozark country by postal inspectors through letters he had mailed. It was discovered after his capture that he had a gunshot wound in the wrist, which physicians said had been inflicted about ten days ago, indicating he may have had a recent brush with the law.

CANADA MAY BECOME
SOURCE FOR HELIUMStudy to Be Made of Amount in Ontario and Alberta Gas Supply

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The possibility of using Canadian helium as the lifting power for the "ritish airships of the future is now under technical consideration. Memoranda, it is understood, is being prepared for submission to the Air Ministry.

Helium has a great advantage over hydrogen gas in that it is non-inflammable and nonexplosive, but its greater cost and lesser lifting power have, in the past, militated against its use.

Helium is found in natural gas in Western Ontario and in Alberta, and it is estimated that Canada could produce about 3,000,000 cubic feet of helium a year if proper extraction plants were established. The whole British policy of airship development, however, is likely to depend on the findings of the commission which is inquiring into the R-101 tragedy. It is expected that British airship development will remain at a standstill until the commission reports.

Obituary

JONES—Rev. G. C. F. Pringle will officiate at the funeral of Mrs. Marie Jones, which will take place this afternoon at 2:30 from the Thomson & Petherly Funeral Home. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

POLLARD—Funeral services for Howard Pollard were conducted yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Relatives and a very large gathering of friends were in attendance. Among the friends were brother members of Victoria Lodge, No. 1, I.O.O.F., and of the Rebecca Lodge of this city, who attended in a body. There was a profusion of beautiful flowers and the hymns sung were "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Abide With Me." and Mrs. William Todd sang a solo entitled "Some Day We'll Understand." Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson officiated, and the pallbearers were W. Curtis, W. Wriglesworth, P. Virtue, Alex. McCabe, George Roy and Martin Cottet. The remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park, where the officers of Victoria Lodge, No. 1, read the Odd Fellows' burial service.

LACEY—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Brittle Lacey, who passed away at the family residence, 1245 Chapman Street, last Saturday, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Relatives and a very large gathering of friends were in attendance and there were many beautiful flowers. Rev. T. Menzies officiated and the hymns sung were "The Sands of Time Are Sinking" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." Percy Edmonds sang a solo entitled "The City Four Square." The pallbearers were J. Gardiner, W. Willis, William Jewell, W. Mackenzie, J. W. Cooper and J. Noble, and the remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

BRANDON—There passed away at an early hour yesterday morning at his home 7725 Rock Bay Avenue, Garrett T. Brandon, aged sixty-four years. He was born in Tottenham, Ontario, and had been a resident of this city for eighteen years. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, three daughters, Miss Cora Brandon at home, Mrs. E. L. Davis and Mrs. B. Parkin, and four grandchildren, all of this city. The remains are resting at the Sands Funeral Chapel and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

BROWN—The funeral of James L. Brown, who passed away at Langford on Sunday, will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Rev. Bruce Gray will officiate, and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

JURY DISAGREES IN TRIAL AT VANCOUVER

No Verdict Reached in Robbery Charge Against W. Stegmund and R. C. Humphreys

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—Disagreement of the jury late this afternoon terminated the prosecution of William Stegmund and Ralph C. Humphreys on a charge of robbing the Oak Street branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, December 24, 1929. Announcement of the disagreement came as a decided anticlimax to a trial which, in its two days' hearings, provided a series of sensational scenes for the crowds which thronged the court room, and, incidentally, the request of jurors for a rereading of the evidence of R. A. Jones, eye-witness of the robbery, who identified the two prisoners as the men he encountered in the bank at the time of the holdup, hinted that they were difficultly hinged upon acceptance or rejection of Mr. Jones' testimony. Countering the Crown's star witness, Mr. Jones, the defence this afternoon presented two alibi witnesses, Mrs. J. Sharpe and Mrs. Margaret Bryce, employees of Branson, Brown, Merrick, Ltd., who testified that Stegmund, one of the prisoners, was in their office between 12:15 and 12:40 o'clock on the afternoon of the robbery. Mrs. Bryce provided the sensation of the afternoon session when, under cross-examination by C. M. O'Brien, K.C., Crown counsel, she faintly in the witness box, abruptly terminating the Crown's inquisition.

Mr. Jones was recalled by the Crown when court reconvened this morning, and recounted his identification of Humphreys in the police court, where the prisoner was listening to the preliminary trial of Stegmund.

NEW SYSTEM OF SCHOOL CADETS

A. C. Hinton, Supervisor of Physical Education, Suggests Reorganization

CHANGE OF UNIFORMS

In accordance with a request of the Victoria School Board for recommendations concerning the organization of a cadet corps in the city schools, the relationship to the militia department, and suggestions for reorganization if desired, a statement was submitted at the special meeting of the school board last night by A. C. Hinton, supervisor of physical education.

BASIS OF CORPS

The request was made following the consideration of charges made to the board by Major W. J. Wilby, early in August, in which he alleged misadministration of the corps in Victoria schools and elsewhere. Mr. Hinton recommends the reorganization of the corps to promote comradeship and leadership, discipline from within, first aid work, sports and games, signaling, physical training, hygiene, lectures on citizenship and loyalty, and marching. He also suggested a change of uniform from khaki, except for camp, to white shirt, blue pants, blue belt and blue shoes.

Mr. Hinton recommends that if such a corps is to be formed, the whole organization should be supervised by one person appointed by the board. He proposes a central committee, consisting of one member of the board, the board's nominee, and two cadet instructors. One open day a year is suggested with a review of the cadets by the members of the board.

In concluding his report Mr. Hinton says: "I feel that the success of the movement depends upon the hearty co-operation of all concerned, but I feel also that, if training other than that based upon training for citizenship receives consideration, it will fall short of its purpose."

ROYAL CITY PLANS NEW STREET WORK

Council Faces Problem in Connection With Meeting Cost of Unemployment Aid

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 14.—With estimates of proposed street work totaling nearly $10,000 in connection with unemployment relief, the City Council was faced last night with the problem of obtaining its share of the cost on a 50-50 basis.

A letter was received from Patrick Philip, deputy minister of public works, Victoria, enclosing a copy of forms to be filled in for unemployment relief work. These asked for complete details in connection with all such work.

It was stated to the council that four to six weeks will be required to prepare plans and prepare for submission to the Government in connection with proposed street work.

"The Government should be asked to reimburse the city for relief expenditures earlier in the year," said Mayor A. W. Gray.

He suggested taking the various phases of the problem up with Hon. N. S. Loughheed, Minister of Public Works, who will be in the city Friday.

The council will meet later to consider the unemployment question.

VANCOUVER TO ASK PROVINCE TO BUILD ANOTHER HOSPITAL

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—A suggestion that the Provincial Government erect a new hospital for incurable cases on city-owned property on the southern slope will be presented to Victoria authorities, it was agreed by the civic relief committee yesterday.

The property on which it is suggested to build the home, is situated between Doman and Minto and Fifty-eighth and Sixty-fifth.

Alderman W. C. Atherton, relief committee chairman, said he has made this suggestion to Premier S. F. Tolmie, who asks that the scheme be submitted to him in writing.

IMMIGRANTS MUST RETURN DOWN UNDER

Eighteen From Australia and New Zealand Are Ordered Deported

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—Eighteen immigrants from Australia and New Zealand were ordered deported yesterday by immigration authorities here; six were allowed to land Saturday, and four more will appear before immigration boards today, out of twenty-eight who were refused admittance to Canada when the R.M.S. Niagara arrived from the Antipodes last week.

Four Australians who were detained when the Acragani came in last month, and who appealed to Ottawa from the deportation order promulgated here, will be sent back when the Niagara sails Wednesday.

The would-be settlers in Canada aver they left the Antipodes before the tightening up of Canadian immigration regulations became known in Australia and New Zealand. But the authorities here say Ottawa has decreed no one may enter the Dominion who is likely to add to the problem of unemployment, and declare the regulations must be enforced stringently.

FIRST SHIPMENT OF LOCAL SILVER FOXES LEAVES FOR SWEDEN

The first shipment of Vancouver Island silver foxes to Sweden left here on Monday. The shipment was made up from local fox farms here, and another shipment is expected to leave on November 15.

Sweden has been purchasing foxes in Canada for the past three years, but until this year placed all her orders with Eastern Canada fox farmers.

Word has been received this week from Hon. T. G. Coventry, British Columbia agent in London, that he expects to establish a trade in England for British Columbia foxes and has recently got in touch with some of the fox farmers who are in Australia and New Zealand, and are gathering full data on the industry.

Print Voters' List—A contract for printing the 1930-31 City of Victoria voters' list has been awarded to Diggon's, Limited, at a price of $4.25 per page.

Member for Lillooet—E. C. Carson, member for Lillooet in the Provincial Legislature, was in the city yesterday, and discussed needs of his constituency with Hon. N. S. Loughheed, Minister of Public Works.

To Repair Plant—L. G. Scott has been awarded a contract for repairs to the Holsum Packing Company plant, which was recently damaged by fire. The contract price was $4,326. The building is on North Quadra Street.

Quick Action—A roof fire at 2231 Bowker Avenue, at 9:58 o'clock yesterday morning was extinguished by the Victoria Fire Department before any great damage resulted. One of the fire fighters fell from the roof of the building, but escaped injury.

Bennett's Speech—The speech of Hon. R. B. Bennett from the Imperial Conference at London today, will be heard by radio fans from CNRV, Vancouver, at 2:05 p.m. Pacific standard time, and not Eastern standard time as previously announced.

Guests of Kiwanians—John McMillan, general manager of the C.P.R. Telegraph system, and Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, were guests of honor at yesterday's luncheon of the Kiwanis Club. Mr. McMillan, who is a past president of the Mount Real Kiwanis Club, has recently returned from a tour of inspection of customs and excise departments.

Police Chief's Report—Eighty convictions were registered in the city police court during September, according to the monthly report of the chief of police submitted to the meeting of the police commission yesterday afternoon. Fines and costs amounted to $1,198. During the month there were 129 auto accidents, only eight of which involved injury.

Unemployment Work—Surface drainage on Richmond Road and road work on Graham Street are the first projects to be undertaken by the City of Victoria under the unemployment relief plan. Work on these thoroughfares will probably be started on Thursday morning. The cost is estimated at $7,270. All men employed will be secured through the Victoria office of the Unemployment Service of Canada.

Eggs Coming Down—According to word received here by W. E. Hagger, Dominion egg inspector, the Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa issued a statement on October 1 that the storage-holding of eggs up to that period was 10,300,000 cases. The corrected figures were 14,704,627 cases. This gives a large difference of 4,404,627 cases, which is likely to affect the price of eggs inasmuch that in the near future the price will come down.

Railway Manager Back—J. G. Cameron, manager of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, has returned to Victoria from Winnipeg, where he negotiated an order for the construction of 200 logging cars to be built at the Russell Street shops this winter. He announced last week that Cameron stated he found conditions in prairie sections not as good as they might be. He said he found Victoria carrying on as well as any other city in the Dominion.

Form New Group—Inauguration of the Canadian products group of the Junior Chamber was accomplished last evening at a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms with an excellent initial attendance. Warm appreciation was voiced of the Prosperity Week campaign being conducted by other agencies. The group, which will continue on a permanent basis, considered a number of proposals for its Fall and Winter programme.

Bridge to Mainland—R. T. Williams, in an illustrated address to the members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Monday night, stated he considered a suspension bridge to connect Vancouver Island with the Mainland was quite feasible from an engineering standpoint. He stated that if such a bridge was completed it could be joined at either end by auto road approaches. Mr. Williams was introduced to the meeting by Fred Landsberg. A. H. Maynard and J. T. Braden assisted the speaker.

Coming to Victoria—Yves Lamontagne, formerly Canadian trade commissioner to Belgium, and for the past three years tariff adviser for the Egyptian Government, will spend today in Victoria, the guest of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Lamontagne is at present engaged in opening a trade commissioner's office for Egypt. He is on a tour of Canada and persons wishing to see him today may do so by communicating with the C.M.A. officers.

Pilot of Ill-Fated Mission Plane to Be Buried at Fairbanks
FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Oct. 14.—The body of Ralph Wien, pilot of the missionary plane Marquette which crashed at Kotzebue Sunday, was flown here by Pilot Robbins and Arthur Johnson, Alaskan Airways manager, it was said here today.

Robbins and Johnson were flying to Kotzebue from Nome today. The Catholic priests will probably be buried either at Kotzebue or Nome. Mrs. Wien collapsed yesterday when she learned of her husband's death. Two young sons, four and two years old each, survive him, besides the widow. His mother and father live in Minnesota.

CLAIM RECORD FOR WOMAN IN GLIDER

By Aline Michaelis

Joy dwells, I know,
In the king's palace,
Like wine aglow
In a golden chalice.
Joy goes along
Where the king wanders,
Its notes like song
That the skylark squanders.
Joy does not care
For barren places,
For meagre fare
And poor men's faces.
Yet, how strange! I heard
As I came hither
Such rapture stirred
As naught can wither.
In a glad tune
From a poor hut winging,
As sweet as June—
A child's voice singing!
And yet I saw,
Where the twilight dances,
Joy without flaw
In a steppe's glances!

Candidate for U.S.
Presidency in 1932

NEWARK, N.J., Oct. 14.—The campaign of Dwight W. Morrow for United States Senator was under way today after an opening speech, in which he eliminated himself as a candidate for the presidency in 1932.

He repeated his stand for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and restoration of state rights in the control of liquor, which he announced at the opening of his primary campaign five months ago. Regarding statements which have linked his name with the presidential candidacy in 1932, he said: "I have the right to say, especially in view of the wholly unauthorized statements made during the primary campaign about my position, that I look forward with pleasure and with confidence to the opportunity of voting two years from now for the renomination and re-election of President Hoover."

Every cold is serious. It is only a step from the ordinary cold to bronchitis with soreness and tightness in the chest and the dry, harsh cough and distressing coughing spasms.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Lime and Turpentine seems almost like a specific for bronchitis because it is so successful in loosening up the cough, aiding expectoration and relieving inflammation.

A trial will prove the effectiveness of this well-known treatment.

Large Quantity Recipes

Helps Toward Preparing for Suppers for Club or Church Societies Where There Are Many Guests

By EDITH M. BARKER

Vacation days are over, the children have started back to school, the club and church activities are getting into full swing and the pleasant routine of the Fall and Winter is upon us. Already I have had several requests to help plan menus for club or church suppers and to supply large quantity recipes. I am going to give you today a few suggestions for suitable meals which can be prepared easily in the kitchen at home and taken to the clubroom or church parlor, or which can be prepared easily in the kitchen of the organization. In the latter case it is exceptional when the equipment permits the cooking of elaborate meals. If you wish to add another course to the menu suggested, a soup of grapefruit or melon will be a good beginning.

Allow one-quarter of a pound of solid meat or one-half pound fowl for each person, and one and one-half cups for each person. The rolls should be reheated in paper bags to keep them soft. One gallon of ice cream will make fifty small servings which are large enough if used with a sauce or meringues. Salted nuts and candy may be added to the menu.

The recipes which are given today will make fifty moderate-sized servings.

Pineapple Gelatin Salad

Four tablespoons gelatin, one cup cold water, four cups pineapple juice and hot water, one cup vinegar, three teaspoons salt, half-cup sugar, two cans pineapple, one large onion. Soak the gelatin in the cold water and add the hot liquid, the vinegar, seasoning and sugar. Chop the onion very fine and add with the pineapple. Add a few drops of green coloring and pour into a mold to chill and harden. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise.

Scalloped Potatoes

Ten pounds potatoes, sliced (six quarts), one and one-half cups butter, half-cup flour, two quarts hot milk, three tablespoons salt, one tablespoon pepper. Peel the potatoes before weighing, peel and slice before measuring. Parboil two minutes. Put in a large dish a layer of potatoes, a dredging of flour and repeat. Dissolve the seasoning and butter in hot milk and pour over the potatoes. Cover and cook in a slow oven (250 deg. F.) one and one-half hours. Remove covers and brown.

Salmon Loaf

Six pint cans salmon, four and one-half quarts dried bread crumbs, three cups milk, salt, pepper, twelve eggs. Soften bread in milk. Mix all ingredients and pack in bread pans, set in larger pans containing water and bake forty-five minutes. Turn out on platters and garnish with parsley. Serve with a cream sauce or with cucumbers dressed in sour cream.

Cheese and Pepper Salad

Remove the seeds from green peppers after slicing off tops. Mix cottage or cream cheese with seasoning and chopped red pepper and stuff the green peppers with the mixture. Chill and slice. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Cottage Pudding

Two and one-quarter quarts flour, three tablespoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, five teaspoons vanilla, five cups sugar, three and one-half cups milk, five eggs, two-thirds cup melted butter. Sift the dry ingredients and add sugar, milk mixed with beaten egg yolks, and the melted butter and fold in the beaten whites of eggs. Turn into greased shallow pans and bake forty minutes in a moderate oven (300 deg. F.).

DICKENS FELLOWSHIP

WILL BE FORMED HERE

Victoria Club Opens Season—David Copperfield Is Book to Read This Year

At a meeting of the Victoria Dickens Club, held on Monday night, it was decided to form a Dickens fellowship, and the necessary steps will be taken immediately.

David Copperfield was the book chosen for reading this year, and Arthur W. Arnap made some interesting introductory remarks upon this book. The speaker emphasized the fact that, in order to arrive at a proper appreciation of the author's work, it was necessary to study the economic conditions of the times in which he wrote.

At the meeting a vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Ponifex for his gift of the framing of a picture of Miss Florence Dickens, which was exhibited to the members.

LIBERALS TO MEET

The annual meeting of Ward 1 Branch Liberal Association will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Leonard W. Cockerill, Union and North Quadra Streets.

While the Nationalist Government of China has announced a number of plans for construction projects involving large sums, there seems to be no funds for them.

Victoria Teacher to Be Married Tonight

MISS IRENE MACDONALD
Whose marriage to Mr. Henry Robinson, of Boston, will take place this evening at the First United Church at 9 o'clock.

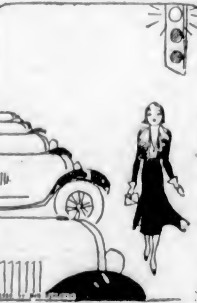

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Priceless crown jewels, gold and silver thread carpets, and dazzling treasures and relics worth millions from the sacred mosques of Hum and Isfahan, were landed today on the dingy stones of Thames-side wharf.

They were consigned to Burlington House, where a Persian exhibit opens in January. The treasures completed the last stage of their journey from Persia on the cargo steamer Bahadistan, which brought them from the Island of Abadan, in the Persian Gulf.

This "Arabian Nights" collection was flown in four airplanes across the wild mountains and trackless deserts between Persia and the Persian Gulf so that they would not fall into the hands of mountain tribes.

a COUGH racks your body like a rough road racks a car....

A COUGH is even harder on you than a rough road on a car, because a STEEL body can stand more punishment than one of flesh and bone.

So, don't wait until you are cough weary—until your body aches—your throat and chest are sore—and you are a fit subject for flu or pneumonia.

Get a bottle of Buckley's Mixture and stop that racking punishment. You'll get relief from the first sip, for "Buckley's" acts like a flash. It is a warm, strong, penetrative mixture that goes right to the seat of the trouble—loosens the hard, congested phlegm that causes the cough—soothes the inflamed throat membranes—clears the tubes—invigorates—strengthens—peps you up.

Every druggist sells Buckley's Mixture. Two sizes: 75c (40 doses); 40c (16 doses).

For severe colds accompanied by fever, headache or neuralgia, take LAX-PYRIN in addition to Buckley's Mixture and quick relief will follow.

Bashful Miss Frisky

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Where'er you go you'll find it true That bashful folk are hard to woo.—Old Mother Nature.

It was two days before Impy saw that strange Chipmunk near his home for the second time. He popped out from under the fern surrounding his doorway just in time to catch a glimpse of the stranger scampering along the rail fence. Rage filled Impy's heart as he started after the stranger. But the stranger could run and in a very short time Impy had lost sight of his tormentor. You see, that is the way that Impy regarded the stranger. He didn't want anyone around; yet this stranger persisted in coming.

Impy turned around and went back. He climbed to the highest stone on the pile of stones, and there he sat and chattered. By and by he had a feeling that someone was watching him. He turned suddenly in time to see a tall disappear between some of the stones of that pile. My, but Impy was upset! Never have you seen anyone more upset. This was unforgivable impudence. He started to hunt for the intruder. In and out he ran between the stones of that pile, but he didn't find the intruder. Once more he climbed to the top stone. And then shortly the same thing happened again. This time, however, Impy got a better look at the stranger and, curiously enough, his anger suddenly melted away. He couldn't have told you why; it just melted away, that was all.

"This time Impy didn't follow," he remained where he was and it wasn't long before he saw a pair of bright eyes peeping at him from behind a stone. He sat perfectly still. Those bright eyes remained still also. He knew they were watching him. Impy pretended not to see them. After a long, long time, the prettiest Chipmunk Impy had ever seen hopped up on a stone a little distance away.

"What is your name?" asked Impy, much to his own surprise.

"Miss Frisky," replied the pretty little stranger.

"That's a nice name," said Impy, and turned toward Miss Frisky. Instantly she disappeared. She was very bashful—very, very bashful.

He Climbed to the Highest Stone on the Pile of Stones.

Indeed, Impy was becoming excited. He hunted for her, which was the worst thing he could have done. His hunt was in vain. He returned to his former seat on the rock. It wasn't long before he discovered Miss Frisky peering at him again. "Where do you live?" asked Impy.

Miss Frisky refused to tell him. "I suppose you know," said Impy, "that I live here!"

"Lust! Miss Frisky nodded, but she didn't say word."

"Can't we be friends?" persisted Impy.

Again little Miss Frisky nodded. At this Impy started toward her. Instantly, little Miss Frisky darted away. Impy stopped. Little Miss Frisky stopped, but at a safe distance. "I won't hurt you," said Impy. "I promise you I won't hurt you."

Little Miss Frisky said nothing, but suddenly turned and darted away. It was surprising how quickly she could disappear. Impy was disappointed. He made his way back to his favorite stone and there he hoped and hoped that little Miss Frisky would come back. But, although he waited and waited, he saw no more of Miss Frisky that day. That was because she was so very, very bashful.

The next story: "Impy Falls in Love."

Indians Married at Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Oct. 14.—A wedding that attracted much interest took place yesterday in the United Church Indian Mission when Vera, the daughter of Chief Paul and Lucy White, was united in matrimony to Mr. Earle Newman, of the North Vancouver group of Indians.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. R. Welch, who is now in charge of the Indian Protestant work. The bride was accompanied by her sister Sara, and was given in marriage by her father, Chief Paul White. The bride and bridesmaid each carried a bouquet of cream roses and smilax. The groom was supported by Chester Thomas.

After the ceremony a party numbering nearly a hundred guests sat down to a banquet held in the basement of the church. Many congratulatory speeches were made and responded to in the Indian language, and by Miss Clippert, teacher in the Indian school, and the pastor.

Each guest was presented with a generous piece of wedding cake and two loaves of bread, and the floral decorations were divided among the many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman will temporarily reside with Chief and Mrs. Paul White, Nanaimo River Reserve.

VANCOUVER ARTIST CALLED BY DEATH

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—Funeral services for Miss Margaret Evelyn Wake, aged sixty-three, well known Vancouver artist, who died on Monday, will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in Nunn & Thomson's Chapel. Rev. A. H. Sovereign will officiate. The body will be cremated.

Miss Wake was born in England and had resided in British Columbia eighteen years. She took a keen interest in fine arts and was a member of the British Columbia Society of Fine Arts, Palette and Sketch Club, and the Vancouver Sketch Club. Some of Miss Wake's paintings have been exhibited at the Royal Academy and Royal Society of Water Colors, in England, and in the Canadian Art Gallery at Ottawa.

The deceased is survived by one brother, Barry J. Wake, of Tacoma.

All Saints' W.A.

CHEMAMUNUS, Oct. 4.—The Women's Auxiliary to the Church of All Saints, Westholme, held their annual sale of work on Tuesday last in the Community Hall, Westholme. The affair was well patronized and proved a great success, the sum of about $100 being realized.

SHE THOUGHT:

"Nice boy—but 'B.O.' makes you impossible."

Yet, to be polite, SHE SAID:
"I'm terribly sorry—but I won't be in any night this week."

Girls liked him at first
.. but couldn't forgive "B.O."

(Body Odor)

SHE DID so hate to turn him down again. He was good-looking, agreeable, just the type she liked. But what could she do? "B.O."—body odor. No, she couldn't overlook that.

Fortunately he discovered his fault later and the simple way to correct it. Today he's well liked—welcomed everywhere—engaged to the very girl who once thought him "impossible."

"B.O."—we all need to guard against it! Even in winter our pores give off a quart of odor-causing waste daily. We become so used to this familiar odor that we don't notice it in ourselves. But the least trace of "B.O." is instantly apparent to others.

Bailey, assisted by the members of the Junior W.A., all most attractively costumed in Japanese dress.

Mrs. West managed the bran tub, and Mrs. Coppock and Mrs. Veale had a contest in which the weight of a cake had to be correctly guessed. Tea was in the hands of Mrs.

Groves, Mrs. Elliott, Miss D. Bonnell and Miss Gibson. The correct number of beans in a bottle was guessed by Miss E. Jones, the prize for this being a week-end suitcase donated by Mrs. Groves. The weight of a chicken was correctly guessed by Mrs. Galsford. A roast of beef was won by Mrs. Tisdall in a draw with Mrs. West. Mrs. Colas won the candle-lighting contest, and Mrs. Lathrop the lucky pitch ball game.

Fellow workmen had to use pick-axes in rescuing M. Benson, who had been partially buried at Dun-gannon, Ireland, by a heavy fall of clay which solidified before he was found.

CHAPTER XIV

"While we were here, I want to go to the house and have a word with Mrs. Cook. She's the one who discovered the body—or says she did."

"Isn't there a daughter?" Andrews inquired hopefully.

"There is. If I can get her to stand for a picture, I'll let you know. But don't you go flourishing a camera around till I say the word," Peter admonished.

Andrews, with no picture in sight, promptly relapsed into a daze on the back seat of Bossy, while Peter advanced and rapped smartly on the kitchen door of the ranch house. A thin trickle of smoke from the chimney announced that, despite the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Everett, Mrs. Cook still took her duties as housekeeper seriously.

Peter removed his hat with a flourish as he stepped inside.

"By the way, Mrs. Cook, did you get your flour?" he asked without preamble.

"Flour?" Mrs. Cook asked blankly.

"She turned from the stove to face Peter, and something in her attitude struck him as oddly defensive."

"Flour," he repeated blandly.

A girl who sat on a wooden chair in the corner, stringing beads, dropped her hands among the rustling pods. At a gesture from the hand of Mrs. Cook, which still unconsciously held a store-bought lifter, she rose and clutching the pan of bean pods against her chest, turned to go.

Peter lounged at ease against the door frame. His glance was unobtrusive. Peter, let good manners stand in the way of a story, but to stare in this instance would be worse than bad manners.

"It would be a tragedy. Nevertheless, he missed no detail of the young, sullen face of the girl."

It was a face to which the warm, healthy vigor of the earth gave a touch of beauty. The features were without distinction, but a natural color glowed beneath the tan of her cheeks, and her hair curled crisply above her low forehead. As she stood, her starched bungalow apron drawn rather tightly over her full bosom and outlining her robust figure, she might have been a model for a daughter of Ceres. If it had not been for the unhappy, baffled look in her eyes, Peter would have put her down as a creature of instinct, simple and unreflecting, untouched by the subtlety and the pain of thought.

"Don't go, please," he said as she moved toward the inner door. "I'd like to speak to you both. Now about that flour, Mrs. Cook."

The stove lifter dropped with a clatter to the floor.

"I don't know what you're talking about," Mrs. Cook spoke sharply.

"No? Well, I don't wonder that you've forgotten it. But you did say, you know, that you went to Mortimer's lodge in order to see if he had sent for the flour you ordered. However, you didn't go for that. You went because you had found out about Mortimer and your daughter. You went to avenge what you thought of as her ruin."

Peter spoke decisively, as one stating simple facts. There was no hint of questioning or of emotion in his tone. "You'd gone there before, at night, hoping to catch them. That's how you knew so well where the chain for the light is."

"Oh! The girl in the bungalow apron turned accusing eyes on her mother. Her exclamation carried a suppressed and angry protest.

"You keep out of this, June! You've got into trouble enough, as it is."

"June," Peter repeated the name thoughtfully. "A rather romantic name, isn't it? A sweet and pretty name. That's the sort of girl you wanted her to be—dainty and sweet and very, very proper. I'll bet you told her to be a little lady, and scolded her when she made mud pies."

June turned to Peter with naive surprise. Her full lips with their sullen downward curve relaxed in a grateful smile. As if she had found an unexpected champion, she laid the pan of beans on the table and sat down, casting a stubborn glance at the woman by the stove, defying her urgent gesture towards the door.

"Yes! Mrs. Cook burst out. "I brought her up to be a decent, self-respecting girl. I wanted her to be often enough! And then she—"

Tears rose in her eyes, but she spoke without anger.

"Oh, yes, you warned her! Peter spoke with biting scorn. "You tried to make her over into the pretty little doll image you'd constructed for her. You thought you could do a better job than God."

And a nice little business of suppression you made of it. You were so anxious to make a lady of June that you overlooked the important fact that God knows His business better than you do. God didn't make June to be a lady—but He made her to be a woman. You thought you could tie a string around instinct—and instinct turned around and hit you a nasty clout on the jaw."

"I'm not going to talk about it. You can get out of my kitchen and go about your business. A good name is all a girl's got to live by, and if—"

June—has lost hers—"

Mrs. Cook turned to June, the fury of disappointed affection suffusing her face with heavy color. Blindly she waved Peter away in a fierce gesture of dismissal.

But Peter stood his ground. "My business is right here, Mrs. Cook," he said calmly. "By your account, you were the first to discover Mortimer's death. You went there not on a household errand but driven by hate—because what you call your daughter's name was more important to you than her life—or than your life, or Mortimer's. No one knows what happened when you went to the lodge. No one knows—yet."

"If you'd only let me alone, this never would have happened!" June's brown hands were clutching the edge of the table. A sob caught at her throat, but her face, distorted by misery and anger, was yet illumined with the fierce joy of long-awaited release. "I've never spoken out to you before, but I'm going to speak now. I'm a bad girl, I guess, but if I am, it's your fault! I've done the worst thing any girl can do—and it's on your head!"

"Don't! Don't! You haven't!" Mrs. Cook's face had turned a pasty white. Her eyes stared, blank with terror.

"If you'd let me be, I'd have been married to Julio—and this—this—this—"

Plunging herself forward on the table, June burst into uncontrolled sobbing. Her elbow knocked the string of beads to the floor, scattering the beans, but in her abandonment she did not notice its clattering fall.

"Julio!" Mrs. Cook seized on the name with a sharp cry, trying to flicker and spread behind the ghastly fear in her eyes.

"Maybe it was Julio—"

June lifted her bowed head.

"If Julio did," she said with strange triumph, "it was no more than he had a right to do."

"Don't talk—that way—" Mrs. Cook gasped the words from a dazed mouth.

"I'll talk any way I please!" the girl said passionately. "If I'd talked more, and sooner, this need never have been. There's three of us with murder on our souls, no matter on whose hands it is. I'm not sorry Mr. Mortimer's dead. I'm glad! I say he deserved it, no matter who did it."

"June, you shut right up, this minute. You don't know what you're saying!" The words came in harsh command.

"I know what I'm saying, well enough," June muttered. The old sullenness darkened her face, extinguishing its brief flash of defiance. The morning sun still streamed through the open door, but Peter felt as if he had watched the swift glare of lightning and listened to the heavy rumble of retreating thunder.

"Now look here, Mrs. Cook, we might as well get down to cases," he said reasonably. "We have only your word for it that Mortimer was already dead when you went to the lodge."

"I said he was dead, and I'll stick to it," Mrs. Cook faced Peter, her broad face set in lines of stern rigidity.

"I said at once, in advance of any concrete evidence, that Mrs. Everett must have killed him."

"Suppose I did. They say she's admitted it now. What more do you want?"

Peter left the question unanswered.

"Still, you consider it 'good ridance' of bad rubby," he said with a lightning of the lips, more expressive than words, was Mrs. Cook's only answer.

"If you had found him dead, supposing that you did, weren't you quite ready to kill him yourself? Isn't that what you went there for, when you found out that not Julio, but Mortimer, the gentleman, who most certainly didn't, was responsible for June's condition?"

"No; but it's true, isn't it, June?" June nodded miserably.

"You still want to marry Julio, don't you, June?" Peter asked gently.

passes and East, having but half a quick trick in his hand and no long suit which might be established and made, likewise passes, as does South. Had West's original bid been two Diamonds, East would have been justified in bidding two No Trumps.

Auction: South passes and West obtains the contract at one No Trump.

THE PLAY

North opens the ten of Diamonds, the top of an intermediate sequence. East plays the Jack, South the two and West the three.

Diamonds having been led, the Heart appears to be the second best suit for West to develop. There is a chance that the outstanding Hearts may be evenly divided, or that an honor may fall on the second round, in which case the ten in Declarer's hand will establish the ten in North's trick with the Queen.

Accordingly the King of Hearts is lead, followed by the four. West takes the trick with the Ace, and the Jack falling, leads the three—South taking the trick with the Queen.

Although North discards a Spade on the third Heart lead, South is fairly sure that North must have some strength therein, for otherwise Declarer would have chosen this suit rather than the comparatively weak Heart suit. Since this is the only opportunity he will have to lead, and since North has shown himself capable of leading a sequence, South returns a Spade.

North returns the Queen of Diamonds and the trick is taken by West with the King. Declarer leads the ten of Hearts and North discards the six of Clubs, trusting that partner may have either the King or Jack and two small of that suit.

Due to South's exceptionally good shift to the Spade suit, North and South will yet get two Spades, one Diamond and one Club, and thus defeat the contract.

Joe McCarthy Signs Two-Year Contract To Manage Yankees

Former Cubs' Pilot Succeeds Bob Shawkey—Salary Said to Be Around $30,000 Per Year—Ruppert Wants Another Pennant

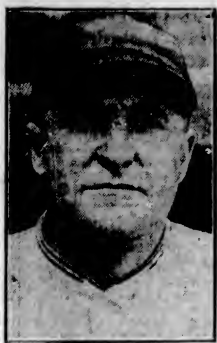

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Joe McCarthy today finally took off his National League uniform and declared his allegiance to the American League by signing a contract to manage the New York Yankees for the next two years.

The former manager of the Chicago Cubs posed with Jacob Ruppert, president of the Yankees, as he affixed his signature to the document, which he called "the best contract I ever signed."

McCarthy's reference was the only one made to the figures in the contract, but it was supposed that he was paid $25,000 a year at Chicago and probably received an increase of at least $5,000.

President Ruppert told the new manager that he confidently expected him to bring another pennant and another world's championship back to New York. He added: "You, and you alone, will be the manager."

McCarthy, who is forty-three years old, managed the Cubs for five years, piloting them to one championship. Before being graduated to the majors he managed Louisville for six years, playing four years.

FLOODLIGHTS TOO EXPENSIVE OFFICIALS SAY

Cost of Installation Would Be $4,000, According to Alderman James Adam

SPORT ORGANIZATION MAY HELP FINANCIALLY

Night sports in the outdoors, under floodlights, is something that local fans will have to be content to read about for a while, as the cost of installation, which is estimated at $4,000, is something that the Royal Athletic Park Committee is not prepared to handle just at this time.

When interviewed yesterday, Alderman James Adam, chairman of the committee, stated that the cost was too much, and that the matter would have to be dropped for the present.

It is understood that certain sports officials have come forward with the suggestion that the various organizations assist the project financially. Whether anything will come from this suggestion is purely a matter of conjecture.

Singer Gives Veteran Mack Boxing Lesson

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Al Singer, world's lightweight champion, defeated Eddie Mack, Denver, in a ten-round, one-sided battle in the Chicago Stadium tonight. Singer won nine of the ten rounds. Mack was knocked out in the first round.

Singer crowded Mack for the first three rounds, forcing him to retreat under a heavy bombardment to the head and body. Mack buckled twice in the first as he was rapped with left hooks to the body. Singer sustained a cut over the left eye in the second round and this apparently infuriated him as he tore after the Denver boy in the third, inflicting heavy punishment with Mack feebly trying to keep him away with long left jabs.

Singer kept charging into Mack in the fourth, fifth and sixth rounds, forcing him to back up to escape. Mack made a half-hearted stand in the fifth by trading punches with Singer, but in the sixth the champion had Mack in distress and hanging on desperately from a savage assault to the head and body.

The seventh, eighth and ninth were repetitions of other rounds. Singer always boring in, was trying to stop his foe, while Mack was running backwards around the ring to keep out of danger.

Joe Townsend Loses Fight at Seattle

SEATTLE, Oct. 14.—Dr. Ham Jensen, Denver, middleweight, gained an easy verdict over Ray McMillan, Portland, in a six-round boxing bout here tonight. Jack Silver, Seattle heavyweight, captured all six rounds from George Rickard, Winnipeg, to gain the decision in the semi-final. Silver blacked both of Rickard's eyes and had the Canadian on the verge of a knockout two or three times. Johnny Bray, Chehalis welterweight, fought rings around Joe Townsend, Vancouver, B.C., and retained his title by a ten-round decision over Sub McKarthy, Kelso.

BOSTON BRAVES BUY TWO NEW PLAYERS

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—The Boston National League baseball club today announced acquisition of Wesley Schumacher, classy Los Angeles outfielder, and William McPhee, Chicago Cub pitching recruit, in a deal which cost the Braves $100,000.

Curtain to Go Up in Fivepin League Tonight

THE curtain will go up on the fivepin trundlers on the Arcade Alley tonight when the Arcades lock horns with the K. of P. in the opening fixture of the season. Tomorrow night at the same hour the Wildcats will oppose the Sanich Thistles, while on Friday the Foot Dog Cafe will meet the Pall Mall five.

EX-NEWSIE RIDING SENSATION IN EAST

Jockey James Shows Class—Has Won Seventy-Two Wins in Three Months

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 14.—Jockey Eugene James, seventeen, former Louisville newsboy, within little more than three months has developed the Royal Athletic Park Committee as an exercise boy. He was reckoned too green to ride in a race during the Downs Spring meeting, and the Atlanta meeting was well under way before he had his first mount.

From Atlanta he went to the Illinois tracks and began piling up the winning record. Near the end of the Lincoln Fields meet he went down in a bad spill, but was only slightly hurt. Horsemen say he uses his hands well, but wins most of his races by "ready" riding, holding his mount in reserve until the stretch, then making his challenge and disposing of the tiring pace makers.

Children's Night At North Saanich Is Great Success

The children's evening held under the auspices of the North Saanich Service Club, at their headquarters recently, was marked by great enthusiasm and was an overwhelming success. Athletic displays by members of the Y.M.C.A. under the direction of Archie McKinnon, physical director, and wrestling exhibitions handled by Fred Richardson of the Tillamook Club, were greatly enjoyed.

Large Field to Face Starter in Big Race Today

NEW MARKET, England, Oct. 14.—About twenty-nine horses are expected to start in tomorrow's renewal of the Cesarewitch, famous Autumn handicap over the two-and-a-quarter-mile course. Duke of Wellington and Beaulieu are French contenders. Coaster and British Sailor were scratched today.

FRANK O'DOUL PURCHASED BY BROOKLYN CLUB

Hard-Hitting Outfielder Figures in Biggest Deal Since Close of Season

PHILLIES GET THREE PLAYERS AND CASH

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—In the biggest player deal since the close of the 1930 baseball season, the Robins have obtained from the Phillies Outfielder F. (Lefty) O'Doul, 1929 National League batting king, and Second Baseman Fresno Thompson, in exchange for two pitchers, one rookie outfielder and a good-sized cheque.

The Robins, in fortifying for 1931 two of the positions in which they were weak this year, outbid at least two other National League clubs, including the Chicago Cubs, in the scramble for Phila. talent.

The Brooklyn club, besides the cash, hands over Jumbo Jim Elliott, big left-hander; Clise Dudley, slightly smaller rightie; and Hal Lee, young outfielder, who signaled his major league debut by hitting a home run as a pinch hitter.

The addition of O'Doul to the Brooklyn outfield gives the Robins a trio of mighty hitters.

FIGHTERS WILL WORK OUT HERE THIS EVENING

Boys for Saturday Night's Bout to Show at Variety Theatre at 8 o'Clock

AINSWORTH DUE TO ARRIVE TOMORROW

Boxing fans will be able to get a line on some of Promoter Joe Ainsworth's material for his Saturday night's show tonight, when the boys work out at the Variety Theatre at 8 o'clock. Jumbo Davies, who will meet George Ainsworth in the ten-round main event, will work out with his brother Albie and a number of other boys. Wing Hay and Frankie Neal, principals in the semi-wind-up, will also show. Work-outs will also be held tomorrow and Friday at the same place.

George Ainsworth will arrive here tomorrow afternoon. He will go through a couple of light workouts tomorrow night and Friday. His manager states he is in the pink of condition, and is content that his protégé will stop the local boy's winning streak.

No announcement has been made as to who will referee the bout, but it is known Ainsworth's manager is demanding an outside referee. Tickets for the bouts may be had at The Bull and Two Jacks Dope.

Local Boy and Partner Lead In Bike Race

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—"Torchy" Peden, of Victoria, partnered by Reggie Fielding, of Toronto, held a slight lead today in the six-day bicycle race which began here at mid-night Sunday. At 3:30 this afternoon the teams of Peden and Fielding and Gachon and Croyley had covered 570 miles, seven laps, but Peden and his partner had amassed one more point in the sprints.

One lap behind the leaders were Gadou and Blonde, tied with Pello and Boogmans. The balance of the field of eleven teams was scattered anything up to ten laps back.

Bicycle Riders May Perform on Glass Surface

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Rivals in Chicago's twenty-fourth international six-day bicycle race, which opens at the stadium on November 8, may pedal on a glass saucer.

If practicable, a glass track will be installed, Manager John Chapman said, so as to make the races more spectacular and to minimize accidents common on a board track. "A spill on a good glass track will not injure the rider as he will slide along, whereas a slide on a wood track means dangerous splinters and slivers," Chapman said.

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Floating Rocks on the Nelson River—Engineers on location near the Nelson River, which empties into the Hudson Bay, North of Manitoba, have observed boulders the size of a house floating on ice floes during the Spring breakup and the attendant high water. These phenomena of nature are caused by the spray of the rapids turning to ice beneath some great hummock of stone, the warmer high waters of Spring carrying away the entire mass.

Dogs That Cannot Bark—Prof. Bell, of King's College, the discoverer of the Island of Juan de Nova, a little pure coral island situated off Madagascar, found that the native dogs could not bark, and that they drank salt sea water. He is also authority for the statement that dogs in the savage state do not bark and do not acquire the habit except under the influence of man's companionship.

Mickey Walker Lands Knockout In First Round

DES MOINES, Oct. 14.—Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, made short work of his scheduled ten-round fight with Mike Mandell, of St. Paul, last night, being awarded a technical knockout before the end of the first round.

Walker, although outweighed sixteen pounds, pounded Mandell to the floor for two counts of nine and then sent him reeling to the ropes, helpless. Referee Cochran, of Kansas City, stopped the fight without counting again.

Walker took only eight or ten swings, while Mandell scarcely landed a blow.

EMMET ROCCO WINS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—Emmet Rocco, Ellwood City, gained a ten-round decision here last night, over Tony Heeney, New Zealand heavyweight. Rocco weighed 188 pounds, Heeney 205.

Mrs. B. R. Philbrick Loses Close Match To Mrs. Parry 2 and 1

Eliminated in First Round on Seventeenth Green After Great Battle—Mrs. Hutchinson Wins on 19th—Favorites Win in "B" Class Meet

Of the four golf crowns which were the honor of Mrs. B. R. Philbrick at the beginning of the year, only two remain opposite her name. Yesterday afternoon she was defeated in the women's championship of the Victoria Golf Club when she succumbed before the fine playing of Mrs. Walter Parry in the first round of match play after a great struggle, 2 and 1.

While Mrs. Parry was eliminating the defending titleholder, Mrs. Hutchinson was having the battle of her career against Mrs. Watson, who she finally put out of further competition on the nineteenth green, in a match that ended with the winner from the first tee to the extra hole. Mrs. K. C. Allen, the medalist, had little difficulty in her match, as she accounted for Mrs. Carey 8 and 6, while Mrs. Charles E. Wilson advanced to the next round at the expense of Marian Pitts, via the 7 up and 6 to go margin.

Mrs. Parry started off in her regular style against Mrs. Parry, and reached the turn holding a two-hole advantage. Her margin at the halfway mark was due to two brilliant strokes, one at the seventh and the other at the ninth.

Mrs. Parry rallied to business as the pair headed for home and she captured the tenth hole with a five. Two putts on the eleventh green cost her that hole. The twelfth was halved and the winner played the thirteenth and fourteenth perfectly, getting two strokes to win both holes and square the match.

Mrs. Parry continued her great golf and captured the fifteenth to take the lead. She stymied Mrs. Philbrick to win this hole. The sixteenth was halved with five, and the match ended on the seventeenth, which Mrs. Parry won with a five to make the way clear for a new club champion.

BOB KRUSE TO OPPOSE STRACK HERE SATURDAY

Feud Which Started Five Years Ago Will Be Resumed

ANDERSON TO MEET CANADIAN CHAMPION

A feud which started in Stillwater, Oklahoma, five years ago, when they were Simon pure wrestlers, will be continued at the Tillamook gymnasium on Saturday night.

Charles Strack, Oklahoma heavyweight mat man, opposes Bob Kruse, Portland, in the eight-round main event of Promoter Fred Richardson's grappling card.

It was in 1925 that the battle started when Strack, who was National amateur champion, lost his crown to Bob Kruse, at Stillwater, Oklahoma. One year later, Strack came to the Coast to meet Kruse in quest of the title, but the Oregonian had turned professional.

However, after competing in an elimination series for the title left vacant by Bob Kruse, Charles Strack again won the crown at Corvallis, Oregon.

A FINE RECORD

Twice a member of the American team to the Olympic Games, and with 117 bouts to his credit since he has turned professional, Strack is well known to local followers.

Bob Kruse, who is meeting Strack, turned professional in 1926 and has met the best men in the game, from "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, right down the ladder. His exploits are by no means foreign to local followers.

They have seen him in action many times. The semi-windup finds Desmond Anderson, Seattle, the greatest wrestler and crowd pleaser, in the Coast, opposing Paul Paulson, of Calgary, Canadian champion, and recent victor over Sailor Pete. The latter showed here last week and was defeated by Anderson.

Tickets are on sale at F. B. Richardson's, 738 Yates Street, The Bull and Two Jacks Dope.

UP-ISLAND SOCCER FIXTURE ENDS IN TIE

LADYSMITH AND NANAIMO PARK FIGHTERS BATTLE TO ONE-ALL SCORE

LADYSMITH, Oct. 14.—Ladysmith met the Nanaimo Park Rangers here Sunday in an up-island soccer fixture, the game ending in a one-all draw. Hill scored for Nanaimo and Alton netted for Ladysmith on a penalty kick. R. Battle refereed.

The line-ups follow: Park Rangers—Wilson; Hindmarsh and English; Richards, Mortimer and Sluggs; Dixon, Hill, Swan, Thomas and Jones.

Ladysmith—Bernardelli; Davidson and Steele; Jordan, Watson and Reid; Torkko, Clark, Alton, Inkster and Weaving.

U.B.C. FOOTBALLERS TO VISIT PRAIRIES

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—University of British Columbia's football team leaves here at the beginning of next week for an invasion of the Prairies. Two games, both scheduled fixtures in the Western Canada Intercollegiate Union series, will be played. Next Wednesday the Coast team tackles the University of Alberta at Edmonton, while on the following Saturday, October 26, the blue and gold athletes take the University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon.

BOWLING MEETING

A meeting of the Manufacturers' Bowling League will be held tonight at Kent's Store, Yates Street, at 8 o'clock. Election of officers will take place and all teams entered are asked to have representatives present.

COLISEUM PICTURE IS FULL OF THRILLS

Wild adventures, dramatic moments in the heart of Africa, the portrayal of an unbelievable legend of the Congo, encounters with ferocious animals, thrills piled upon thrills—such is "Ingagi," which comes to the Coliseum Theatre next Saturday. Hundreds of thousands of persons have seen the picture and have in almost every instance, pronounced it the most entertaining film ever produced.

Governmentally financed or subsidized public works and improvement projects are keeping down unemployment in Italy.

RUSSIAN CHORUS IS HERE TONIGHT

Two Excellent Programmes Arranged for This and Tomorrow Evening

The world famous group of singers and dancers, known in America as the "Russian Chorus," under the direction of that clever musician and conductor, Princess Agreva Slaviavsky, will sing two lovely programmes (completely different), at the Royal Victoria, tonight and Thursday night.

Countess Jean de Suzannet will also appear, as special guest soloist. She is well known in Victoria musical and social circles, and her recent successful appearances with the chorus, in its Seattle and Vancouver series of concerts, presage well for the great success of her singing here.

NOTED PIANIST WILL ASSIST AT RECITAL

Miss Kate Francis Ede, whose recital will be given at the Shrine Auditorium on October 20, has, as assisting artist, Miss Gwendoline Harper.

Miss Harper has arranged a very attractive pianoforte group. In addition to some favorite Chopin numbers she is playing two Debussy preludes, "Danseuses des Delphes" and "Voiles." Miss Harper's pianistic ability is well recognized and Victorians will welcome this opportunity of hearing her again.

Miss Beatrice Hicks, whose work as accompanist is always a finished performance, will again give assistance in her usual artistic manner.

Will Unveil Shrine To Memory of Bliss Carmen on Saturday

FREDERICTON, Oct. 14.—With leaders in public life in the province and Dominion taking part in the simple but impressive ceremony, the unveiling of the granite shrine to the memory of Bliss Carmen, first memorial to the dead poet, will take place here in his native city on Saturday afternoon, October 18. The family burial plot in Forest Hill Cemetery, where Carmen's ashes were interred in a concrete tomb with state recognition on August 20, 1929, will be the scene of the ceremony.

Arthur Rodzinski and the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra will present their first concert tomorrow evening for radio listeners when they play during the Standard Symphony Hour over the N.B.C. system tomorrow between 7:30 and 8:30 o'clock, P.S.T.

COUNSEL DISAGREE AS TO LINE OF ACTION

Various interests represented in the litigation over coal measures on Vancouver Island in the Cedar district in the vicinity of Round Island, which is now before the Supreme Court, were heard in Chambers by W. A. Macdonald yesterday morning. There are three actions, Arbutnot vs. Green; Arbutnot vs. Consumers' Coal Company, and Arbutnot vs. Michener, and for a little time back the attempt has been made by some of the litigants to consolidate the actions for the purpose of trial.

Yesterday, M. B. Jackson, K.C., for C. C. Michener, was not in a position to assist to this course, as he had not been intimated with regard to it. C. H. O'Halloran, for John Arbutnot, was opposed to the consolidation. He intimated that he was prepared to charge gross fraud in the matter.

His Lordship, while intimating that he would favor consolidation for the purpose of simplifying the proceedings, said that he would not make an order to that effect if there was objection to the course. The matter was allowed to stand over for later argument.

Motorists who have been touring in the vicinity of Drakenburg, South Africa, report finding at North Nelson's Kop an isolated tribe of natives called Frodis, living in a volcanic district deserted by Zulus fifty years ago, and so primitive that they rushed in fear from the automobile.

MANUFACTURERS ENDORSE STATE HEALTH SURVEY

Association Supports Principle, but Favors Federal Control

ROYAL COMMISSION IS TO CONSIDER REPORT

Belief that any state health insurance plans made operative in the province should be on a national basis and instituted by the Federal authorities was expressed this week in a communication by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association,
British Columbia division, to the Royal Commission on State Health Insurance and Maternity Benefits here.

T. C. Dixon, president of the British Columbia division of the C.M.A., in setting out this view, stated the association concurred in the principle of state health insurance, but deemed its introduction on a provincial basis would be a mistake at this time.

Two Vancouver delegations arrived in the city yesterday under the impression that the commission was to hold a further public sitting. The commission has completed its public hearings, but will assemble again on October 29 to consider framing its report, which will be presented to the next session of the Legislature.

Written argument which various organizations have asked leave to file will be considered by the commission, but no further delegations will be received.

Mainland parties who visited Victoria yesterday in an endeavor to see the commission included the North Vancouver Women's Council, and representatives of insurance companies.

The commission is composed of
C. F. Davis, M.P.P., chairman, Dr. L.
E. Borden, M.P.P., Dr. J. J. Gillis,
M.P.P., George S. Pearson, M.P.P.,
and W. P. Kennedy. C. H. Gibbons is secretary of the body.

That Body of Hours

By James W. Barton, M.D.
DEAFNESS FROM DIFFERENT CAUSES

Perhaps you wonder why some deaf individuals are able to obtain some degree of hearing by treatment whilst others get no results whatever.

The fact of the matter is that all deafness is not due to the same cause and hence only certain forms of deafness can be helped.

Sometimes the deafness is due to what might be called the "receiving part" of the ear, the drum-which gets the pressure of the air against it from the outside and has air coming into the mouth or nose and up a small tube into the ear, which makes a pressure against the inside of the drum.

Now you can readily see what any irritation of nose or throat can do to this little tube carrying air up to inside of drum. Any inflammation, any growth such as adenoids, tonsils or polypus, can interfere with this air and so the inner side of the drum does not get enough air to counteract the air striking outside of drum.

With this irritation or inflammation of the lining of this little tube the walls may actually "stick" together and prevent air going up properly.

The removal of this irritation or inflammation by medical or surgical treatment, or by the use of the little finger in some cases, allows the air to go up, the drum gets equal pressure on both sides, and so vibrates and conducts sounds by means of the little bones to the apparatus carrying the sounds to the brain.

It is this type of deafness that is so often cured.

Sometimes an infection from bad teeth or tonsils may be causing trouble in the ear and the little bones which should move on one another actually get fastened together almost like one bone. Scarlet fever and other diseases of childhood are frequent causes of trouble with the drum and these little bones.

These conditions can also be helped to some extent by the ear specialist.

Another type of deafness due to excess bone formation is sometimes helped by proper diet, and glandular treatment.

Where the nerve conducting sound to the brain is affected, usually not much help can be expected.

So remember that deafness may definitely be helped in many cases if you get the right treatment.
Some cases cannot be helped as far as our present knowledge is concerned and only time and money is wasted trying to get help.

SURREY TO ASK $7,500 AS EMPLOYMENT AID

CLOVERDALE, Oct. 12.—At a special meeting of the Surrey
Municipal Council, Saturday night, it was decided to apply to the Provincial Government for $7,500 of the $20,000,000 Federal Government appropriation for relief of unemployment.

Reeve Tom Reid, M.P., will go to Victoria to ask that special treatment be accorded settlers in the Bear Creek area, and he will probably be accompanied by J. W.
Berry, M.P.P.

The area mentioned is logged-off land that was a Dominion homestead area before the Provincial Government took over the railway belt. The settlers need roadways—many of them having no way out from their holdings—and they have suffered from not being able to obtain lumber mill work, as they formerly could.

was reached on Saturday night following consideration of a communication from Reeve Tom Reid, of Surrey, Federal Member for New Westminster, which outlined the Government's relief measure.

Because of the grape shortage in France, wine prices there have been soaring.
